"I hope the police commission will hold an examination at an early date and get some men on the eligible list. The force will have to be kept up in numbers if the city is to be properly policed."

Officer Mason declared that in his opinion Officer Sam Brown did not deserve the treatment from the fire and police commission. He expressed regret that the district needed so little support from the city officials and the hope that if any of the existing antipathy had been caused by the (Mason's) having been on the force, it would now cease. He expects to depart for Chicago in the morning. Thus far he has no definite plans for the future. A report which was circulated on the streets this morning that Officer Mason had clubbed Officer Lennan at five o'clock this morning appears to have been entirely without foundation. Lennan was entering in the entry-way of McDonald's restaurant and the officer got him away from there without resorting to any violence.

WOMAN SLEW TO WIN LUXURY, SAYS STATE

Mrs. Steinhilf Desired Become Wife of Wealthy Merchant, Declares French Prosecutor.

Paris, Nov. 12.—In opening the argument for the prosecution, Trouard Riolle, the judge advocate, advanced the theory that Mme. Steinhilf, aided by an unknown accomplice, murdered her husband so she could obtain her freedom and wed the wealthy Maurice Bordenet. He said the killing of her step-mother was unpremeditated, and merely an incident to the tragedy. Driven to desperation by her financial and domestic situation, the judge advocate contended, Mme. Steinhilf saw in Bordenet a savior with whom, once rid of her husband, she could live in luxury as a wife, if possible, or as a mistress.

Seeking to simulate in a graphic manner that her husband had been assassinated by burglars, who bound and gagged herself and her step-mother, he argued, the defendant had brought Mme. Japy to her home, but in the feverish haste the binding of the mother had been overdone and the murderers found her dead when the slaying of Steinhilf had been accomplished.

The judge advocate admitted that the crime of matricide did not appear to be sufficiently established, but he was convinced that the prisoner had killed her husband and had assisted in his murder.

Throughout the crushing arraignment the woman sat with bowed head dejectedly buried in her arms on the rail.

Taft ADDRESSES MISSIONARIES.

President is in Fine Fettle After Long Jaunt.

Washington, Nov. 12.—President Taft is apparently none the worse for his 13,000-mile "swing around the circle."

He delivered the principal address at the opening session of the laymen's missionary movement and later in the day started for Middletown, Conn., and Hartford, Conn., but will be back by noon Saturday and on Monday expects to plunge into work.

Quite a Joke.

Pat (in the midst of a heap of cards in front of the card index)—"Shure, 'twas a merry joke that the lady at the desk was playin' when she told me to look over in this domed cabinet for the book I wanted. Faith, that's nothin' here but a lot of cards!"—Judge.

Dr. Johnson's Homeliness.

Samuel Johnson was himself—and this is a quality rarely found in "plain" men—under no illusion as to his personal appearance. Dr. Burney tells us that on one occasion while Miss Burney was examining his portrait he peeped over her shoulder and with a ludicrous half-laugh exclaimed: "Ah, ha, Sam Johnson! I see thee—and an ugly dog thou art!"

A PLAIN STATEMENT OF FACTS

The Chicago Inter Ocean thus sizes up the political situation which confronts President Taft on his return to Washington:
"The cleavage that visibly existed here, not disappeared. The gulf has not been closed. It has been widened. The 'insurgents' are visibly more discontented than ever. They have been forced formally to deny an alliance with Mr. Bryan—which no one ever expected them formally to admit—but their identity of aim with Mr. Bryan has become manifest. It is plain that only their own special brand of republicanism will satisfy them, and that they would prefer the republican party's defeat to their own failure to control its policies and make it go their way. No other conclusion can be drawn from their conduct.
"It has become plain as the midday sun that the 'insurgents' are not satisfied with the party leadership of Mr. Taft. Yet it is the conviction of the Inter Ocean that Mr. Taft has taken the right line for his country's welfare.
"We believe this to be the conviction of a substantial majority of republicans, and of sober-minded men regardless of party affiliations. Of course Mr. Bryan does not think so, and neither do Mr. La Follette, Mr. Cummins and the rest of the 'insurgents.' It is evident that the only kind of republican leadership they can be satisfied with is the La Follette kind or Bryan kind.
"It has become plain that Mr. Taft cannot count on any general loyalty or consistent support for his administration from the 'insurgents.' Senator Cummins' recent speech, though in form directed especially at Mr. Cavanaugh, was in fact a virtual declaration of war upon the Taft administration, its policies so far as declared and the leadership of Mr. Taft.
"If we assume that Mr. Taft possesses ordinary human sagacity, this is a condition that he will have to reckon with in practical matters of patronage and the like. It is a condition that confronts Mr. Taft, not a theory. He is obliged to work with those who are willing to work with him. Any other course would be suicidal.
"From the viewpoint of desire for party tranquility, harmony and peace, the situation is a deplorable one to all thinking republicans. But the issue between government guided by respect for established institutions and advancing by orderly process of law and with loyalty to the constitution as it is, and government which regards all these things as of no importance in comparison with an immediate aim of stopping somehow or changing something, has been fully raised and will have to be met.
"The important point just now is for us all to understand that the issue has been raised, cannot be smoothed over or ignored and will have to be fought out to a decision.
"There are the conditions, and deplorable as they may be, it remains to be seen whether the rank and file of the party will loyally support the president and his administration, or whether the people will rally to the support of the insurgents.
"More than the tariff is involved in the efforts being made to discredit President Taft, for no one expected that any kind of a tariff measure would meet with general approval. The question is so largely local that some localities were bound to be dissatisfied.

The thing that is concerning the "insurgent" leaders is not the tariff but personal ambition and they will exhaust every effort by appeals to prejudice and ignorance to enlist popular support.
It is an easy task to convince the masses that they are downtrodden and oppressed, and "God's patient poor" are always largely in evidence. "Special interests," "corporate wealth" and "the trust" are like the red rag to the bull, and these titles are being freely used to stir up class-hatred. The president is entitled to a fair and impartial hearing, and this the people will accord in spite of efforts to stampede the country against him.

WHAT IS A PROGRESSIVE?

"From the number of candidates for the governorship that are springing up or in imminent danger of springing up in the so-called progressive camp, progressiveness seems to be an incurable itch for office. With some the itch is perennial, but the disease is contagious and others have just got it.
"The symptoms of the disease are unmistakable. First a suspicion, then a conviction, then a resolute declaration that the world is all wrong, 'bosh,' and we're the fellows to set it right. Next is heard a rumble, then a roar, then a deafening thunder—crash against all politicians, big and little, past, present and prospective.
"The disease progresses rapidly, and there follow in swift succession anathemas against all business corporations in the land, fulminations of promised judgment upon all the greedy rich, biting tears over the woes and dangers of the dear people, blue jay shrieks in behalf of imperiled liberties, and a catalogue of 'reforms' that would make the toughest problem in Euclid appear tame and insipid—and then the end—a fat, juicy office and the exploitation of the dear people.
"O, it's fun to be a progressive—but the people have to pay the price.
"This is the Milwaukee Sentinel's definition of a "progressive," and it comes near being right. The only thing he lacks to be an "insurgent" is the opportunity. Fortunately it is for the country that the average voter is not an office-seeker. The combined walling of the "insurgents" and "progressives" is as noisy as a pack of wolves and about as dangerous.
L. R. Glavin, the discharged employee in the government land office, has been induced for a consideration to air his grievances in a much-railing magazine. Glavin attempted to discredit the work of Secretary of the Interior Ballinger, and after his charges were investigated by President Taft he was discharged from the service. He is now being used by the muckrakers and "insurgents" to embarrass the administration. The fight against Ballinger is a fight against Taft, and the people so understood it.
The Milwaukee press has discovered that the inland cities of the state are capable of deciding what form of government they will adopt, and so have ceased to dictate. The Journal and one or two other papers, not in sympathy with the consolidation plan of government, attempted to back up the movement, but results were futile. The inland cities are not suffering for a dictator, and Milwaukee can give undivided attention to houses cleaning at home.
Rev. C. H. Beal, pastor of the Grand Avenue Congregational church, has caused consternation among the women of his congregation by requesting that all hats be removed during the public service. The demand for pocket mirrors is greater than the supply as the new creation in hats is a difficult thing to adjust without a glass. The order is all right. There is no more reason why a woman should wear a hat in church than at the theatre.
Two carloads of choice Iowa steers sold, the other day, at $9.25, which is practically war prices, and yet people denounce the butcher, the packer, the dealer, the tariff and everything else in sight for the high price of steak. Other meats on the hoof are equally high in proportion, and everybody kicks but the farmer. What would the country do without a tariff.
With 90,000 hunting licenses issued and all of them in active service, it is not at all surprising that casualties are of daily occurrence. There are more men than deer in the north woods, and they need protecting more than the game.
A flash of lightning bagged 46 ducks in one flock, the other day, and dropped them in a farmer's dooryard. No game-warden was present to distribute the illegal count, and the farmer was not arrested.
Mr. Bryan may be a candidate for the senate unless duty compels him to head the national democratic ticket in 1912. "Anything to accommodate" is his motto.
Bank-robbing both from without and within is becoming popular.
Bridal Chests That Lock.
Every fall bride will want a box to hold the articles of her trousseau as they are gathered together. Beautiful boxes of cedar may be purchased for little, and are made in a very convenient way. Instead of the lid lifting up, as did the box of great-grandma so long ago, the front may be dropped down, revealing two drawers to hold the things. The box locks securely and the effect is very neat. Dark cedar boxes are ornamented with the bride's initials in German letters of solid brass placed on the false lid.

They tell me of I-Took-a-Shoe, who roams the Arctic waste up there, and I'd be happy if I knew why I-TOOK, he declined to take a pair. A-SHOE The truth, the truth I want to know, and vainly for the truth I beg! Would two shoes swamp the Eskimo, or does he wish a wooden leg? It may be that on boots have fed; perchance he but desired a shoe to throw at some explorer's head. He may have used it as a hat, for custom-made shoes are scarce; or girls at home do worse than that—just stole their Eds. and throw some note that name keeps running in my brain. It raps my nerve, it makes me blue: I feel it's driving me insane—"I-Took-a-Shoe! I-Took-a-Shoe!" It haunts me when I am asleep, it bores me when I am awake, and people ask me why I weep, and such an ill-fated racket makes. Some day that bleeding Eskimo will lecture through this weary land, and I to hear his spiel will go, and then, maybe, I'll understand! The load I bore for weeks and years, perhaps I'll drop, when he is through, and I shall murmur through my tears, "I-Shook-it-Too!"

Gold Crowning

I am making more gold crowns for people every day. I like to do this work because it gives the patient a strong useful tooth that will last for years and usually for a life time. I make a charge of only five dollars so that people who need teeth crowned, but cannot afford to pay eight or ten dollars for the work, are able to secure this permanent improvement of their teeth.

My method of crowning is a very successful one and I can guarantee my work to be perfectly satisfactory for years.

MRS. A. H. HAYWARD
SUES FOR DIVORCE

Wife of Former Janesville Resident,
Now of Milwaukee, Charges Him
With Deceit.

Alpheus H. Hayward of Milwaukee, at one time a resident of this city, and former assistant state bank examiner, is named as the defendant in a suit for divorce brought against him by his wife, Edna M. Hayward, on charges of desertion and the purchase of a house for an alleged ally. In the complaint it is alleged that Mr. Hayward was an habitual drunkard and added in the support of this aforementioned ally. Mr. Hayward has filed an answer to the charges, denying the accusation and filing counter charges. He claims that soon after their marriage she developed a jealous and fretful disposition and frequently nagged him about alleged affairs. Mr. Hayward also states in his countercharges that on one occasion she threw a pot of boiling coffee at him, also struck him with a rocking chair and slapped his face. Her disposition is given as the reason for his inability to live with her and her practice of coming to his office and making trouble there is alleged to have caused him to lose his position.

Mr. Hayward is well known in this city having been employed in the Merchants & Merchants' Savings bank. He also conducted a business training school here.

BURR M'INTOSH IN A SPLENDID PLAY

"A Gentleman From Mississippi" by Harrison Rhodes and Thomas Wise Delighted All Theatregoers.

Reinforced of "The Man of the Hour" in his big, persuasive plea for common honesty, and of "The County Chairman" in the convincing naturalness of its characters and situations and the spontaneity of its humor, and modeled on broader lines and manner, perhaps, than most of its fellow political plays, "A Gentleman From Mississippi" drives home a lesson in practical idealism without making of its rugged central character a superman and demigod. The seeming guilelessness of this colossal figure as he emerges from his Mississippi plantation to enter the arena of national politics is partially a bluff, and the scheming politicians who presume upon it and seek to involve him in a conspiracy to reap private advantages from the location of a new naval base on the great river, learn ruefully in the final reckoning that the game of poker was invented in his native state. And yet, he speaks with the sincerity of conviction when he declares, in the beginning, that his colleagues are "all gentlemen and honest as the day is long." His new secretary—Ind Haines, the newspaper correspondent—knows better and replies: "Yes, but the days get shorter when congress meets." The new junior senator has many of the folks and little inconsistencies and labors preachers of the country from which he comes and they are revealed with deft touches in his "VIRY REASONABLE!" comment on the bourbon whiskey bill; the announcement that "Prohibition in Mississippi ends at his front door"; his onslaught on the building colored porter and assistants who are attempting to "sweep" the down-and-out Union veteran from the hotel lobby; and in the memorable colloquy with the latter in which he roars: "Our flank never turned sir!" and the next moment folds the ancient enemy to his bosom with: "It might be that very shot of yours that almost killed me!" "D—n you, sir, I'm glad to see you!"

Burr McIntosh returns to the stage after nine years' absence to make of this character something very vivid, and above all, human and appealing. His "Senator Landrum" is the kind of an individual calculated to both lure and drive the politician back to the gentler path of optimism. In response to incident curtain calls at the conclusion of the third act, last evening, he addressed his audience at the Myers theatre, but he did not stop outside the picture. He was still the junior senator from Mississippi on a little junket around the country and, as such, he took occasion to pay a veiled tribute to Wisconsin's senior senator, as one of the little coterie he had seen displaying the courage of convictions on the floor of the senate. There were bigger rounds of applause for other things he said and the delightful by-play with Will Deming, who as "Ind Haines," modestly announced that "he wrote the speech." Mr. Deming's portrayal of the private secretary's role was very pleasing throughout. Many of the trenchant lines such as "I don't like that fellow, Norton—he's one of the new kind with a little corporation law on the side," are given to this character and while Deming makes the most of them, he is never glib. William Walcott as "Senator Penbody" somehow fails to realize the popular conception of a "king of the senate" but is very satisfactory. Henry Pemberton is excellent as "Congressman Charles Norton." Genevieve Kane is very pleasing as "Mrs. Spangler" and the same may be said of Mary Moran and Evelyn Moore in the roles of "Carolanne" and "Hope" Langdon. Beulah Watson as the stenographer, Charles Steinhilber as "Senator Stevens," Harry Robinson as the down-and-out Union army veteran, Harry Stubbs as the Chicago correspondent, George Miller as the hotel clerk and Gulf City promoter, and all the minor characters. "Quite a brush up the evidence!" says the hotel clerk facetiously as the bride and groom pass from the desk leaving a trail of rice. Nearly every person in the play, little and big, has one or two good lines or amusing incidents which transpire from time to time before the piece an atmosphere of gentleness and always redresses rather than detract from the main plot. There was a large audience in attendance. The company appears at Madison tomorrow night.

AFTERNOON

Afternoon, Nov. 12.—It has been found necessary to change the date for the holding of the first meeting of the Moonlight club, which was to have been held at Shopley's, Tuesday evening, Nov. 23, for, unwittingly, the executive committee of the club selected a date already chosen by the members of the Ladies Aid society of this place for the serving of their annual Thanksgiving supper. As any function given by this society is always popular here, and would serve to keep Afternoon people from going to Shopley's on that evening, the date for the Moonlight club meeting has been changed to Tuesday evening, November 30, at Haggart's hall, Shopley's.

At the Baptist church next Monday evening Rev. D. W. Tullent, D. D., corresponding secretary and superintendent of missions of the Wisconsin Baptist state convention, will talk on the theme, "Atton's Greatest Need: Not Money, Not Education, Nor Religion." Everybody in Afternoon and vicinity should be interested in such a grand home topic as this and come out to hear Dr. Tullent.

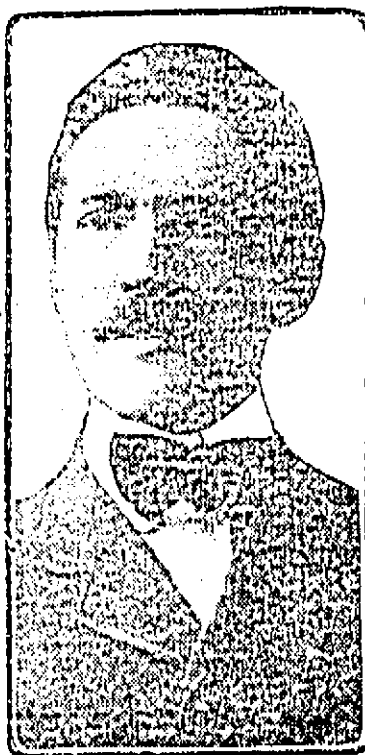

At the Royal Neighbor meeting held last Thursday afternoon another new application for beneficial membership was accepted. The camp also decided to hold a special meeting at Brinkman's hall on Saturday evening, November 20, at which Herman C. Hagman will be initiated. Following the ceremony of initiation, lunch will be served, to which the husbands of the members are invited.

On Friday evening of next week the members of the Baptist church and congregation will meet at the church for their first annual meeting and supper. The work for the past year will be reported, plans for the future discussed, various officers elected for the coming year and a good social time indulged in.

The Ladies Aid society will meet with Miss Ella C. Dohling next Wednesday at 10 a. m. to sew for the society. A picnic dinner will be served at noon. All members are urged to be present as there is plenty of work. Master Leslie Scales, who has been so seriously ill, is able to be out again. Mrs. George S. Otis is spending the week with Chicago relatives, having gone there on Friday of last week.

Misses Hazel Palmer and Ethel Soper, the teachers in the state graded school, attended the state teachers' meeting at Milwaukee last week. Mr. and Mrs. George Bennett, who expect to leave soon for Portland, Oregon, are spending the week with their daughter, Mrs. D. F. Harding.

It is pith and point, more than words and quantity, that make a good advertisement.

GARFIELD BEGINS CAMPAIGN OF EDUCATION. Secretary James Rudolph Garfield.

Cleveland, Ohio, Nov. 12.—Following closely in the wake of Senator Aldrich's currency campaign in the middle west the announcement is made of another educational tour in behalf of the conservation policies of President Roosevelt. Mr. Garfield's first appearance will be before the American Civic association of Cincinnati on November 16. He will talk on the "Conservation of Public Lands." It is possible that the old conservation row will be opened before the end of Garfield's speaking tour. The next address will be before the student body of Wisconsin state university at Madison. His theme will be "Conservation of National Resources." On the following evening he will appear before the merchants of Milwaukee. On December 20, he will appear before the Nebraska State Bar association. He has chosen as his subject, "Executive Power and the Public Interest." His closing address will be before the Oklahoma state teachers' association at Oklahoma City. He will talk on "Civil Service and the Roosevelt administration."

Although former Secretary Garfield asserts this series of addresses has no direct bearing upon the current controversy the alleged breach of Roosevelt's conservation program, it followed his refusal to comment upon the last statement of Secretary Ballinger, that he had "not reversed the Roosevelt-Garfield policies," but that he "had done what Mr. Garfield himself had done."

"I cannot talk of the matter until I have seen the entire statement made by Mr. Ballinger and I have sent to Washington for such a copy," said the former secretary today. "I am also having various withdrawals and restrictions checked up, but this is merely for my own information. Manifestly I cannot tell what I might have done, with regard to any land until I know exactly what land is referred to and the circumstances surrounding it."

Heart to Heart Talks.

By EDWIN A. NYL.

GOD AND MOTHERS.

It is a beautiful saying that "God could not be everywhere, so he made mothers."

The influence and power of a mother are only less than the influence and power of God.

Napoleon recognized that fact when on being asked what was the greatest need of France he replied, "Mothers!"

It is a trite observation that great men come of great mothers. It is as true that those nations are great whose mothers are great.

Note the Jewish people.

Where will you find greater sanctity of home life, purer domestic love, than in the home of the Jew? It has been no since the call of Abraham. Chastity and devotion have ever adorned the Jewish mother. And that is why the race has produced more great men in proportion to its numbers than any other.

And the Germans—

When Tacitus found and wrote about them twenty centuries ago the Teuton who lived in his native forest was the husband of one wife, and that wife was then, as today, industrious, domestic, virtuous. In consequence no people have ever achieved greatness in so many ways as the sturdy Germans.

And England—

Stations may stand up in parliament to champion a budget that will build more ships to guard her shores and save her possessions, but the real bulwark of the empire is the bulwark of English homes—and mothers.

If the Anglo-Saxon dominates the world today it is because of the intelligence and purity of Anglo-Saxon mothers. If his strength is as the strength of ten because his heart is pure, it is because of his mother's purity.

And America—

The sons of the republic march in the forefront of the world as the arbiters of righteousness and the proclaimers of peace because of their mothers behind them.

Ah, mothers!

You are power greater than that of queens on a throne. Your great province, like that of God himself, is the mothering of souls. You alone can put into living souls the divine yeast of the world's future goodness and greatness.

Do not resign your scepter of motherhood to some mere hireling of a day. Let us say it reverently:

We know not how it is in other worlds, but in this one God himself cannot get along without mothers.

CZAR IS RULED BY BOY.

St. Petersburg.—Today the czar of Russia who rules millions of Slavish subjects, is tyrannized by a child. This was a fearful day for Alexei Nikolaevich, his son, just when the emperor is busied with the affairs of state the ruler rushes from the nursery and demands that his father ride him on his shoulder. He is heir, of course to the Russian throne and the present emperor must bow to his wishes to prevent a possible civil war in the palace. The czar always neglects and drops the affairs of state until the little one is ready to race back to the nursery.

The favorites of Alexei are an old non-commissioned officer, Stepan by name and his nurse, Maria Ivanovna who puts him to bed and makes him say his prayers. These prayers are the cause of frequent quarrels, as Alexei insists on mentioning old Stepan before praying for his father and mother. Maria corrects him, but unavailingly.

Czar of Russia and His Son, Alexei Nikolaevich

"Millions are praying for the czar," he says, "while I alone am praying for Stepan, and Stepan is very much in need of the Lord's blessing."

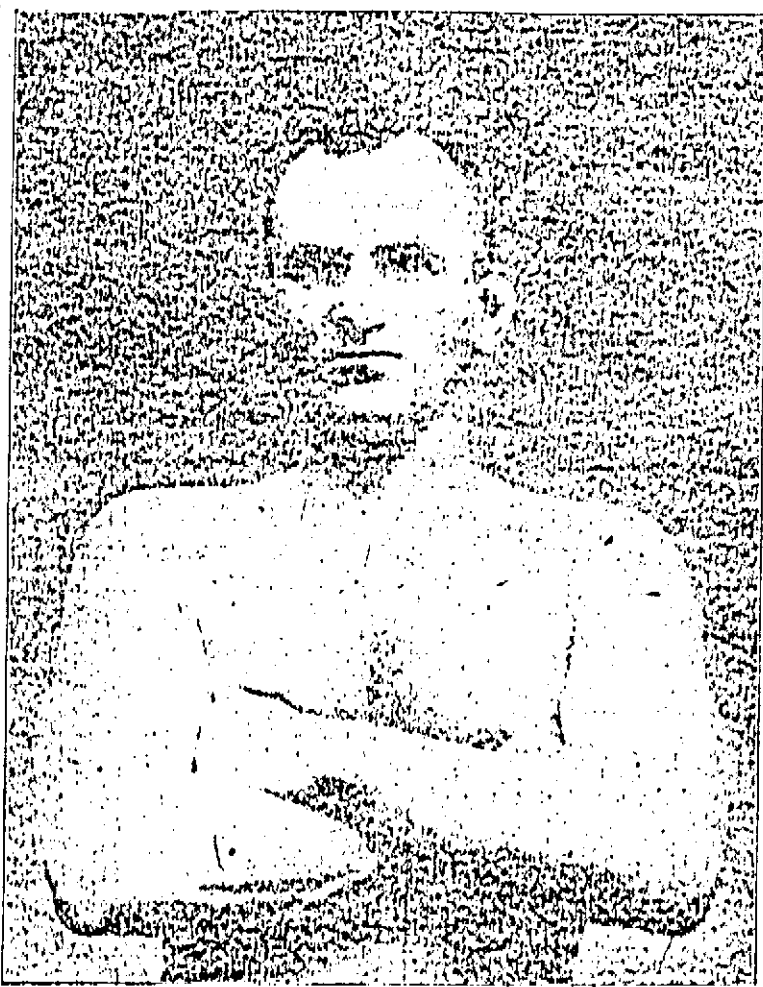

He is perfectly cognizant of his high position and the little czarvitch is greatly offended if he is not saluted by the soldiers with due honors.

"What's the use of being a grand duke if the soldiers do not salute you?"

Gazette want ads are ready by post-vortising.

A Hero.

"I saw a remarkable demonstration of courage and fortitude this morning." "Some one rescued from a fire?" "More notable than that, even; a man passed a prepossessing looking woman on the street and never turned to look after her."

Back, Neck, Face, One Mass of Sores. Cured by Dr. Taylor's Remedy. Gentlemen:—I have suffered from burning, itching, eczema for 4 years, which tortured me so that I could not endure any underclothing on. My back, neck and face were one mass of eruptions, and I was so unsightly that I was ashamed to go out. About two months ago I commenced using Dr. Taylor's Remedy, and today I am cured. I hope this testimonial will come under the notice of other sufferers from this terrible disease, so that they also may get relief. Hattie D. C. Wilcox, 2236 Ridge Avenue, Philadelphia, Pa. WOMAN'S PAGE

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

WHEN are your father's and mother's birthdays?

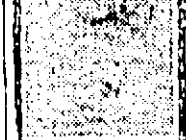

Do you know and do you always remember them?

A girl whose family completely forgot her birthday last year told me that though she was 26 years old she actually cried herself to sleep over it.

Mothers and fathers don't do that because mothers and fathers are people who seldom cry except over their children's sorrows, but I wonder if they don't feel like it sometimes as the birthday that used to mean so much when they were young passes by just like other days.

If course I know that in a great many homes the grown-up folks' birthdays are celebrated just like the children's, but I am afraid that in a great many more they are not.

Do YOU know when YOUR father's and mother's birthdays are and do YOU remember them?

A boy with his hands in his pockets and a cigarette in his mouth, backed up to the side of a building, watching the passersby—that's one of the saddest sights on earth to me.

It seems to me that it would break my heart if I had a son who loafed on street corners at night. And I also seem to me that if I had a son and there seemed any danger of that, I'd make a pretty big effort to make my home more interesting than the street corners.

The season of long evenings is here.

What are you doing to make your boys contented at home?

This is what one widowed mother of a very headstrong, restless boy does every year when the leaves begin to fall.

As soon as the evenings grow long she gets some interesting, masculine book, or set of books, and every evening that her son does not have his friends at his home or go to theirs she and he read aloud together.

One year it was several of Henry's books, another "The Three Musketeers," and this year it is to be "Les Misérables."

Always so far the life in the books has been more interesting than the life on the street corners.

And that despite the fact that he is an unusually restless and headstrong boy.

Doesn't that sound attractive and suggestive to you?

Several boys who were playing marbles for keeps were arrested recently for gambling.

There parents were highly indignant and said the arrest was absurd but the police court judge didn't look at it that light at all.

On the contrary, he reproved the boys severely and told them that if they repeated the offense they would be sent to the reform school.

In his remarks, furthermore, the judge said that it didn't make any difference what you gambled with or for, that gambling was gambling and one form was as wrong as another.

Rather an interesting anecdote for the bridge-playing ladies?

Can you read this sign?

A man who owns a fine coffee plantation in Jamaica said:

"Four years ago I discovered that coffee was ruining my health and I quit and have been using Postum ever since."

Experience taught this man that he could not drink his own high-grade coffee.

It's active drug—Caffeine—irritates the nervous system, interferes with digestion, and trouble is sure to follow.

Some folks may take the hint and change to Postum.

It is absolutely free from drugs, and when well made, that is, boiled 15 minutes, it has a delicious taste similar to the mild, high-grade Javas, with the natural vital food elements of the field grains that repair the damage done by coffee.

Girl's School Dress.

The making of a serviceable school dress does not necessarily exclude all opportunity for the displaying of style. A pretty frock showing both of these attributes is pictured herewith. This was developed in the ever-popular navy blue serge, with military trimmings of black antique. This latter appeared at the left side of the entrance, the bodice portion, the points terminating nearest the closing being finished by a button of smoked pearl. A wide wash of heavy black satin was tied about the figure just below the hips. The skirt—or, rather, the flounce—was laid in side pleats.

New Meteorological Service.

Germany has inaugurated a meteorological service especially reserved for aerial navigation. All the data gathered in the observatories of Europe will be sent to Germany and, conversely, those taken at Lüneburg, Grawentel and Friedrichshafen, will be centralized at Aix-la-Chapelle. There they will be recollated and the results sent out by telegraph for the use of the German aero clubs. By this means it will be known with precision whether any particular day is favorable or unfavorable for an ascent.

BOMB FOR BIG FOUR OFFICIALS

CHICAGO WOMAN THREATENS NEW SENSATIONS IN WARRINER CASE.

ANXIOUS TO GO INTO COURT

Defies Officials to Arrest Her—Says Letters Will Tell Why They Are Afraid—Big Four Official Said to Quit.

Cincinnati, O., Nov. 12.—Mrs. Jeannette Stewart, or Ford, has given out a statement in which she promised to reveal some highly interesting particulars in the Warriner defaulting case. She declares she has certain letters from a Chicago man, whose name has been frequently mentioned in the case, locked up in a safety deposit vault, and which she says she will make public at the proper time. She calls these letters her "trump card," and asserts they will not only make interesting reading, but create a sensation.

"They've pressed me too hard," Mrs. Stewart said, "and I have to defend myself. I hold these letters and when I make them public they'll make those around the Big Four offices sit up and take notice. At the proper time I shall make them public. Why don't they arrest me if they think I've taken any blackmail money? Those letters will tell why they don't arrest me."

Says All Are Against Her. Mrs. Stewart asserts that all the others implicated in the case have agreed to throw the burden upon her. "And I will not stand it," she said. "I've tried to keep out of this, but they will not let me. I only hope they permit me to go before the grand jury. If they don't I'll bring the whole business into court myself, for I'm determined to clear my name."

In answer to the direct question whether she ever had received money from the Chicago man mentioned as one of the alleged blackmailers, Mrs. Stewart admitted she had, but said that if the money was blackmail she did not know it. She reiterated that she never received a cent from Warriner.

Big Four Official Said to Quit. Reports that at least one high official in the Cincinnati office of the Big Four had resigned as a result of the Warriner disclosures went the rounds among railroad men. At the Big Four offices a dozen expert accountants were engaged in checking over Warriner's books and those in charge said there was nothing to give out which would add to the information heretofore made public in the statements issued in this city and from the New York Central offices in the east.

CENTRAL BANK MUST NOT RULE.

Senator Aldrich Says Such Institution Must Be Servant.

Des Moines, Ia., Nov. 12.—That the Central Bank of the United States, when it comes, if it ever does, must be the servant and not the master of existing financial institutions, including the 25,000 independent banks, was the gist of an address delivered before the bankers of Des Moines by Senator Aldrich of Rhode Island.

The senator told of his investigations into the banking methods of the principal countries of Europe conducted by him as head of the United States monetary commission. He contended that the United States could not wisely adopt any European banking system. He dwelt at length on the important part that commercial paper plays in the banking systems of the old world. This, he explained, was not done for the purpose of urging the adoption of the European plan in the United States, but to indicate a possible means of increasing credit in case it should be found desirable to go abroad for suggestions looking to an improvement over our monetary system.

WIFE SEES HUSBAND KILLED.

Flour Mill Man Is Struck by Street Car.

Chicago, Nov. 12.—George T. Evans of Indianapolis, 71 years old, one of the proprietors of the Acme Milling Company, was struck by an Indiana avenue car and sustained injuries from which he died at St. Luke's hospital early today after an operation.

Mr. Evans and his wife came to Chicago several days ago and were guests of the Congress hotel. Last evening they dined with friends in Michigan boulevard, and were on their way to get a car back to the hotel when the accident occurred.

National Agreement Extended.

Memphis, Tenn., Nov. 12.—The extension of the life of the National Association of Professional Baseball leagues until September 6, 1921, and the selection of Chicago as the next meeting place were the principal features of the closing session of the annual meeting of the association here. The association made one or two changes in its constitution concerning the signing of contracts, the promotion of welfare of the players and the punishment to be meted out to those who fail to live up to their contracts or violate their reserve clauses.

Theater Fire Causes Panic.

Oakland, N. Y., Nov. 12.—Five hundred spectators, mostly women and children, narrowly escaped serious injury last night in a fire panic in the Olive opera house when flames in a moving picture machine caught fire. Many persons were bruised.

Increase of Crime in London.

The figures of the London police courts show a very decided increase during recent years in serious crime.

Surely in a Bad Way.
There was a congressman who failed to show up for a vote on the tariff bill. He was not paired and his absence was unaccountable. He lazily strolled into the house the next week and was at once hauled over the coals for his dereliction. "Why, I couldn't come," said he; "my health was given away. I had three doctors' camps in my chest at waist, and they united in saying that my whole system was rotten with insomnia."

Many a hero rubs elbows with us every day in the street. Horolam exists in nearly every household, and the man or woman who finds no need to exercise it is made of material scarcely worthy of consideration. WISCONSIN WILL

HAVE HARD FIGHT

ANCIENT ENEMY OF THE
BADGERS COMING FROM GOPHERDOM.

MANY ARE GOING FROM CITY

Janesville Will Be Well Represented
at Grindon Struggle in Madison.

Down from the wilds of Minnesota
the lanky Gophers will arrive in Madison this evening to do battle on Camp Randall tomorrow with their ancient enemies the Badgers. Janesville will be well represented on the bench and side lines and if the weather is fine several out parties will leave about ten o'clock to witness the contest. Geo. D. Simpson has secured a block of twenty-five tickets in the center of the north stand for the Janesville contingent and as they are at the exact center of the field the Janesville rooters will have an excellent opportunity of seeing all the hot play.

According to the "bear" dope handed out by the Wisconsin coaches their team is in poor condition. Earl Anderson of Stoughton, who during his college course was the premier and of the west, was out of the last evening and says that there is much to be told. However, believing that Wisconsin will come back on the field in its usual remarkable style he thinks that it has more than a fighting chance.

Others who have received inside information on the team state that if Wisconsin holds Minnesota down for the first few minutes of play that they will regain confidence and whip their old enemies. Anyway it looks like a good hot game with the odds perhaps in favor of the Gopher contingent.
Camp Randall, they report, is a sea of mud, but unless more rain falls the clay will soon dry and make it excellent for playing.

In the east the annual Yale-Princeton game takes place. Cornell plays Chicago and the Maroon team has gone east with the firm determination of breaking into the eastern elite by scoring a victory. Another western team is also to fight it out, Michigan
playing Pennsylvania at Philadelphia.
Michigan has one bad report against its record and Kentucky has a

ing teams also cross horns:

German Chancellor a Major.

The new chancellor of the German empire, who held the rank of lieutenant in the imperial army when the now honor came to him, has been promoted to the rank of major. "This may seem to be an empty distinction for the chancellor of the realm," says a writer in a German paper, "but it will absolve the new major from the obligations to salute lieutenants and captains. His predecessor, von Buelow, also held the rank of major and never attained to any higher military dignity."

LIVELY JANGLE AT

MEETING OF BOARD

Green County Supervisors Got Into Hot Arguments Over Proposed Road in Albany Township.
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Monroe, Wis., Nov. 12.—A prospective county highway for the township of Albany was the subject of the most exciting session the Green county board has held for years. The board jailed over the matter for hours, with three and four members on their feet at the same time, and it was finally discovered that the county appropriation was illegally made, as has been all road appropriations, as they have then decided to return to the township its appropriation and the county portion was placed in the general highway fund. Albany is never without a fight and the days of the blind pig warfare fades into insignificance compared to the highway conflict that has developed in the road dispute. The county board at the last session adopted what is known as the north road as the prospective county highway. The county highway commission later met and placed
the south road on the highway map.
Instead, a long petition was presented, protesting against the change. The money raised for the north road could not be expended on the south road and the result has been that neither road has been improved. Chairman Crunk of the township stands for the south road, and made an able fight for it. According to the law the county highway commissioner makes his recommendation after the town board is heard. If his recommendation is not satisfactory appeal may be taken to the county board. This application for appeal, in which case the county highway will be designated by the county board. Much bitter feeling has been engendered as a result of the fight, families are divided on the question and citizens of both the township and village are denouncing each other. Many members of the board are under the impression that it is a very small matter for the amount of disturbance it has caused and the impression has been growing that personal differences dating back a good many years is responsible for the bitter feeling that is displayed by parties who are most active in the matter. The county board asked the state for the whole matter and as it stands at present Albany is the county transportation center, as it has been for and on for years since the mind of man runneth not to the contrary.

Old Citizen Dies
Jacob Truelsen, a resident of this city since the year 1854, died yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock

Truelsen has been afflicted with last year or two he began to fail rapidly, and no hope was held for his recovery, due to his old age. He is survived by one son, W. F. Truelsen, brother, and a sister Mrs. Margaret Kemper of Milwaukee. Funeral arrangements have not been made as yet.

election of these officers by the members of the organization a "cock up"

COMMITTEE WILL

MAKE ITS REPORT

LOCAL AERIE OF EAGLES DIS-CUSS BUILDING OF CLUB HOUSE LAST NIGHT.

PLAN MEETS WITH FAVOR

Definite Plans Will Be Made, Means
of Financing the Proposition
and Lodge Will Take Action Soon.

At the meeting of the Eagles last evening the question of building a club house, which would be distinctively
an Eagle affair was thoroughly discussed and to obtain all the knowledge possible a committee of five consisted of John C. Nichols, Dr. E. B.
Farnsworth, Grant H. Fisher, W. W.
Scott and E. B. Connor were appointed to handle the preliminary work.
This committee will look for a suitable site, discuss plans for a building and methods of financing the proposition and then report to the aerie when definite action will be taken.

The general idea seems to be to organize a stock company and purchase a lot and erect a building which will be not only a distinctive structure, but also so arranged as to be a source of revenue to the company.
With this idea in view several choice properties in the center of the down town business district are being considered where a building can be built that will find ready tenants for the renting portion of the structure.

In rough, the plan is for a three story concrete building. The lower portion could be utilized for a Turkish bath room, barber shop or bowling alleys. The first floor for stores, or perhaps a garage, and the front portion of the second floor for offices, with the Eagles' club rooms in the rear.
The top floor would be fitted up as a large hall and could be used for dancing parties.

It has been estimated that such a building as proposed would cost in the neighborhood of thirty thousand dollars.

Such a building would be a valuable addition to the city and would be suitable for the holding of conventions, large dances, banquets and even small gatherings. The building would be in charge of a board of directors of the corporation formed and the stockholders would receive a dividend and interest on their investment.

Similar plans have been tried in other cities, and proved successful,
and even in Janesville, both the Masons and Odd Fellows own business blocks which pay good rental to the investors. The committee named will investigate all these plans and when ready to report will show the aerie
how such a plan can be financed and prove a paying investment for the stockholders.

TRYING TO REVIVE
BUYING MOVEMENT

American Tobacco Co. Buyers Are in the Field—Number of Contracts
Have Been Secured.

Efforts to revive the buying movement are noticeable in many of the growing districts again. Buyers in the employ of the American Tobacco Co. have been sent out negotiating for a class of goods heretofore largely neglected. Their offerings are of course considerably below those of previous quotations and their work of breaking down prices to five to seven cents necessarily slow. In the aggregate, however, quite a respectable number of contracts have been closed.
Mild, warm weather has prevailed
during the week which has given these buyers a chance to examine the leaf and at the same time has assisted materially in the curing of the late harvested tobacco.

There is a growing demand for old leaf of all descriptions, though the cheaper leaf that will meet the demands of exporters or manufacturers who are willing to take "off" goods is more largely sought after. While a few lots of tops have been sold at satisfactory prices, we also learn of several trades under consideration that embrace moderate sized transactions.
Packers report increased inquiry for samples and a more hopeful tone pervades the market generally.

The shipments out of storage reach 933 cases from this market to all points for the week.

"What is the matter with the 1906
crop?" This question has been frequently asked by people familiar with the fact that it has been an incubus upon the market for the past two years and they are still looking for a satisfactory answer. The answer is easy—the market has been poisoned.
Primarily it was the price. The tobacco costs too much money. The grower was the man who pocketed the profit, while everybody else who touched it was sorry. No crop ever grown in the state is due to lose the general pecker so much money as the 1906, and yet the crop contained some of the best blenders (C. S. state has over produced. The unusual percentage of damage that came in the crop when first sampled was thrown upon the market at whatever figures it would bring and the manufacturers who bought it were disappointed in the results and thus the crop got a black eye which has ever since been extremely hard to get away from. The sound, desirable blenders of the 1906
crop are all right and meet the requirements of the trade, and but for the reputation that has been tagged to it
it would be in good demand yet.
These goods have been slandered, maligned and sacrificed so long that some packers have lost hope that they will ever regain their standing in the trade. There are, however, some manufacturers who recognize its merits and continue to use it in preference to any later year crop. There will be more of them after the crop is out of the market. The 1906 crop has been the "goat" long enough.
